

Agree to Talk on Berlin But Policy to Stand

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer completed their policy conferences today with a high degree of agreement on Berlin issues which may be negotiated with the Soviet Union.

Kennedy escorted the 55-year-old chancellor to a waiting limousine outside the White House at about 12:30 p.m.

The President told reporters as he walked through the White House lobby that the talks had been "very good, very good," and had made a "good deal" of progress.

West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss told newsmen the talks went "better than anticipated."

"Everything went the best way," he said. "Full agreement on principles, aims, issues and ways how to go on."

Asked whether there was a possibility now of negotiations with the Soviets, Strauss replied: "I think that's up to the four-power decision and mainly depends on the Americans when."

He added that it also depends on President Charles de Gaulle of France.

Adenauer, himself, made no statement. He is scheduled to fly back to Bonn tonight.

A communique reflecting a high degree of agreement between the two leaders on Berlin issues was expected to stress Allied determination to protect West Berlin against Communist pressures and at the same time to keep the way open for a peaceful settlement with the U.S.S.R.

Advance indications of the results of the conference were expected in a luncheon address to be made by Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder at the National Press Club, substituting for Adenauer.

The chancellor cancelled the engagement because of a cold. Aides called the illness slight; it did not cause him to miss any of his meetings with Kennedy.

Those meeting kept him at the White House most of Tuesday and he entertained Kennedy and other U.S. officials at a dinner at the German Embassy. Prior to the dinner a joint German-U.S. statement said the talks had gone well.

The talks involved an exhaustive and productive discussion of the current status of West Berlin and its relationship with the Western Allies," the statement said.

West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss went further. He told reporters as he left the White House that Adenauer wants to negotiate on ending the Berlin dispute.

"We achieved a common basis for further talks on the ambassadorial level. We achieved unanimity for talks," Strauss said.

100 Policies Adopted by Farm Group

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation ended its two-day 1961 convention Tuesday after adopting more than 100 policy statements and resolutions covering a wide range of state, national and international problems.

The group expressed its opposition to increasing truck weight limits on the proposed removal of authority for counties to levy a three mill road tax.

Also opposed were proposals to establish federal controls on soybeans, livestock, and poultry.

The federation recommended further consolidation of school districts, extension of construction programs at the university and state colleges, and appropriation of additional operating funds for these institutions.

It urged the state government to provide more matching money for federal funds available for construction of farm-to-market roads.

The state group will recommend to the National Farm Bureau Federation that the government be asked to set 1962 cotton acreage allotments at the 1961 level and that a 15 per cent increase be given across the board to rice farmers.

The convention urged that "organizations fighting the spread of communism be encouraged and that aid to nations not fighting the spread of communism be stopped."

This Shaggy Dog Had a Real Heart

SHELL LAKE, Wis. (AP)—This is a shaggy dog story, but with a heart.

Two months ago, Tony Ingebrechtson, 87, went for a walk in dense woods near his farm in this northern Wisconsin area. With him went his fuzzy dog, Penny, weighing at most about ten pounds.

Neither returned. Washburn County authorities searched fruitlessly for them.

Their fate was a mystery until Sunday when Daryl Alexander of Rice Lake, a deer hunter, worked his way through heavy brush and heard a small dog barking furiously.

It was Penny. She guided him to the spot where Ingebrechtson had fallen and died last September.

Alexander went to notify officers, who were unable to relocate the body until Monday night. Penny was still there.

Sheriff L. W. Stegeman said Penny, who apparently had lived off the land during her long vigil, had been turned over to Ingebrechtson's niece, Mrs. Loyal Schaub of nearby Spooner.

The state group will recommend to the National Farm Bureau Federation that the government be asked to set 1962 cotton acreage allotments at the 1961 level and that a 15 per cent increase be given across the board to rice farmers.

Rep. Harris Discusses New District

Congressman Oren Harris of El Dorado addressed a combined meeting of Kiwanians, Lions, Rotarians and other guests Tuesday at Hotel Barlow in which he discussed a variety of subjects including:

His new congressional district which he said now embraces 20 counties, which involves about one third of the population of Arkansas and 40 percent of the land area.

He pointed out that business was generally good over the fire area with the exception of Camden and Arkadelphia. He also mentioned the poultry industry which has its problems.

The development of the water industry over the state has been the brightest in its history, and now Millwood Dam is a going project and will become a reality.

He also pointed to other water projects over the state.

In regard to foreign aid, he said that our tax dollars had been used all over the world and that he favored technical aid to other countries, but was opposed to the "give-away" program.

He said he was opposed generally to federal aid for education, and said he felt that was mainly a local matter.

Congressman Harris then turned to church life in the nation's capital, pointing out that most churches were crowded each Sunday and that most members of the house and senate were in regular attendance. There's been but little integration of the churches despite the rapid growth in grade and high school of mixed races.

Tuesday's program was arranged by Dean Murphy and A. B. Moon.

The organization, known as the Southern Association of Intelligence Security Agents, was formed to "keep peace officers of the South abreast of the latest techniques in handling criminal and subversive matters," Poole said Tuesday.

"We will work closely with the FBI and other law enforcement agencies," Poole said. "We certainly are in no way competitive with the federal agency as most of our members, including myself, are graduates of the FBI National Academy."

He said that the organization patterns when the ZikeZeus is does not "plan with hunts or any-launched from Kwajalein Island thing of that kind."

Poole said 10 states including Arkansas were represented at the organizational meeting in Miami last Monday and Tuesday.

Poole said the association plans to meet in Hot Springs, Ark., next summer at a date to be decided.

Rain General in State, Snow in Some Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rainfall was general over Arkansas Tuesday night and today with the forecast calling for clearing skies for Thanksgiving.

The Weather Bureau here reported 2.62 inches of rain fell at Ozark with two inches or more also recorded at Hector, Newport, Morrilton, Greenbrier, Searcy, Daisy, Damascus and Harrison.

The Agriculture Department said the rainfall was beneficial to winter grain crops in northeast and north central parts of the state.

A department spokesman said the rain would have little effect on cotton and soybeans as harvesting is nearly completed.

The forecast called for cloudy with occasional rain and scattered thundershowers today and in the east tonight with decreasing cloudiness tonight.

Thanksgiving was expected to be partly cloudy and a little cooler in the south.

Stormy weather, with snow, sleet and rain, spread across wide areas from the Rockies into the nation's midsection today, indicating a slushy Thanksgiving holiday.

A snowstorm which hit New England, dumping the heaviest falls of the season—up to 20 inches in parts of New Hampshire—appeared ended in most areas.

The Weather Bureau in Washington said favorable weather was indicated for most of the nation on Thanksgiving, with temperatures near seasonal levels in the major part of the country.

Heavy snow warning of four inches or more, with strong northerly winds, were posted for much of northeast Colorado, southeast Wyoming, South Dakota, northwest Nebraska, Minnesota, extreme northwest Iowa and southwestern Kansas. More than three inches of snow fell in Wassau, Wis., during a six-hour period Tuesday night.

Snow, cold, rain and sleet hit much of the North today.

Snow fell from Minnesota eastward into Michigan, Wausau, Wis., reported three inches.

Light snow persisted in northern Maine in the aftermath of a storm that dumped up to 20 inches of snow on New England.

Thunderstorms boomed over Texas and Oklahoma.

Snow fell in Idaho and Montana while strong, gusty winds carried rain in northern California and the Pacific Northwest.

The latest national outlook from the Weather Bureau indicated Thanksgiving Day will be damp and dismal in many sections of the country.

Rain was forecast for areas in the East, Midwest, South and Far West. Snow may fall in some parts of the Midwest and Far West.

Government Cracks Down on Labor Union That Fined Its Workers for Overproduction

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government cracked down today on a labor union for fining its own members for producing too much.

The action was directed against Local 283 of the United Auto Workers Union based on charges filed by employees of the Wisconsin Motor Corp., West Allis, Wis., that the union is suing them to collect such fines.

Under the union production norms, it was said, most employees of the firm were able to finish up a normal day's work two hours before scheduled quitting time.

Stuart Rothman, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, announced he had directed a complaint against the union as a test case because similar charges of union-imposed production standards have "recently arisen with some frequency."

The union was said to have originally imposed only token fines of $1 on over-producing members but lately to have adopted a policy of levying penalties of $50 to $100 in cases of "flagrant conduct unbecoming a union member" in outdoing union production standards.

Several months ago the union filed suit in Milwaukee courts seeking to force collection of fines on members who balked at paying them.

Rothman said the the imposing fines to discourage employees from meeting an employer's production requirements is in effect requiring the workers to engage in a slowdown. This could enable the union to enforce production standards it had been unable to negotiate in collective bargaining.

Rothman said various rights under the federal labor relations laws are involved. On one hand, he said, unions may prescribe rules governing members. On the other, employees are guaranteed the right to engage, or refrain from engaging, in such activities.

Hopes Raised for Finding Rockefeller

By ROBERT MYERS

MERAUKE, New Guinea (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today flew a 500-mile survey along the swampy south coast of New Guinea where his son Michael was last seen three days ago but found no trace of the missing 23-year-old.

Arriving after a transpacific jet dash, the governor set up his personal search headquarters in this coastal village southeast of the Flamingo Bay area where his youngest son was last seen swimming toward shore Sunday.

Dutch troops and natives fought their way through the dense, swampy jungles to search the uninhabited coast. Dutch navy ships criss-crossed offshore.

The governor returned to Merauke at dusk to interview Michael's Dutch companion on his ill-fated trip. Dr. R. S. Wassing, 34, who stayed with their overturned boat and was rescued on Monday.

Wassing was flown to Merauke from Cook's Bay, 185 miles to the west, where he was taken after his rescue.

The governor on his arrival in New Guinea today had been heartened by the news that Michael was only about two miles offshore Sunday when he began swimming toward land and not 14 miles as reported earlier.

A DC3 twin-engine transport flew the Rockefeller party along the coast which Michael had tried to reach when the boat capsized after he had set out with Wassing and two natives on a 25-mile trip to some villages.

It now appears the boat sailed down the Eilanden River Saturday, instead of Thursday as reported earlier. The plan was to go from the village of Agats to the coast and then sail on another branch of the river 15 miles to Atsa. The group was collecting primitive artifacts from tribesmen who were active headhunters only a few years ago.

Gov. Rockefeller plans to use a flying boat for a close-in look at the Agats area Thursday. The banks of the river there are formed of soft mud and are thickly covered with mangroves. The water is teeming with crocodiles.

Dutch navy men told the governor they had hopes Michael—a strong swimmer—had reached the shore because a radar search had found no trace of two empty gasoline cans the youth had been using as a makeshift raft. A Dutch seaman retraced part of the swim this week with similar cans and was followed by radar. The seaman said the cans speeded up his swimming but increased his fatigue.

A spokesman for the governor said if Michael had reached the shore, there is a chance he may be alive; if not, there was no hope. He added that a Dutch marine was recently lost in the same area and was rescued after eight days.

The governor's chartered jet airliner landed him first at Biak, off the north coast of Dutch New Guinea. He spent 45 minutes being briefed by Rear Adm. Leonard Reser, the armed forces commander in Dutch New Guinea.

Then Rockefeller switched to a smaller plane and flew to Hollandia, the capital, also on the north coast. He and his party remained at the Hollandia airport only 30 minutes before taking off over the Owen Stanley Mountains for Merauke, on the southeast coast, the headquarters for the search of Flamingo Bay, where the governor's youngest son disappeared Sunday.

Three new films, available free, of course, for you to show to your school, club, church or other organization, have just been made available to us. The first movie is called "A Voice for Mercury" and tells the story of the recent successful Mercury space shot that circled the earth.

The second film, "Decorating Unlimited," shows how one woman redecorated her home on a budget with the film sponsored by the Bell System and McCall's magazine.

The other film tells the story of Hurricane Carla and how telephone men and women from Arkansas helped others in fighting the storm and then in restoring communications after Carla moved inland. All three of these movies can be obtained free by calling the telephone company business office.

Union Restrained From Boycott

LITTLE ROCK (AP) —

Chancellor Guy E. Williams issued a temporary restraining order Tuesday to keep a labor union from urging a boycott of turkeys processed by the Franz Foods Co. of Green Forest.

Officials of the Kroger Co. asked for the order after members of Food Handlers Local 423 of the Meat Cutters and Butchers Union passed out leaflets at Kroger stores advising customers not to buy Franz turkeys.

The leaflets said Franz paid "under standard union wages" and are destroying the hard-won union conditions in the Arkansas poultry industry.

Arthur Allen, business agent of the union, said the union was not picketing Kroger but "peacefully passing out leaflets to consumers in an exercise of the right of free speech."

Protests Cutting Passenger Service

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A protest against Missouri Pacific Lines' proposal to curtail rail passenger service between Memphis and Hot Springs was filed with the Arkansas Commerce Commission Tuesday by the Wyne Chamber of Commerce. It was the first protest against the proposal under which Mo Pac wants to reduce service to one round trip daily. A hearing on the request is set for Dec. 11.

Asks Taxes Be Voided on System

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Fort Smith Gas Co. asked the Public Service Commission to void taxes paid on a $12,500 distribution system it leases from the city of Magazine. The company contended the system is publicly owned and thus tax exempt. The PSC said it would set a hearing date on the request.

Husband's Conscience Pained By Memories

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Several years back I became romantically involved with a friend. I love my wife, but believe it or not, I loved this woman too, and in a fashion, still do. She gave me affection, was good company and always looked pretty. My wife is everything a wife should be: reliable, realistic, and a fine mother to our three youngsters.

But, and I say this without disloyalty, she has no allure. The other woman kept me guessing. Finally, we broke off. At least I did.

But I can't forget, especially when I hear certain songs which I associate with her. I know it's wrong, but she's in my thoughts. Now, out of the blue, she phoned me to say she can't forget either and is divorcing her husband in hope I'll leave my wife and marry her.

I told her, perhaps overharshly, that our romance was simply a passing fancy, and hung up. Next day she was on the phone again. How can I make her understand that this is the end of the chapter? I'm afraid she will go to my wife. I don't want to hurt my family any more than I've already done.—Worried Husband

Dear Worried: Tell your wife the truth. If she is the realist you describe, she can take it. But make it clear that she comes first in your life and as proof cite the fact that you've broken with the other woman. Deal just as frankly with this other woman. Make it clear that your wife knows all and this is it. Unless you take the aggressive, you're in for a lot of trouble.

Dear Helen: I'm the victim of a bore. Our next door neighbor comes early and stays late. I no sooner get the kids off to school than the door bell rings and there this time-consumer is.

Dishes remain stacked in the sink, beds unmade and wash piled high while she talks on and on. I work till midnight trying to catch up.

My nerves are so frazzled I've had to take a tonic. Don't tell me to move. We own our home. What can I do?—Bored Stiff

Dear Bored Stiff: You'll need more than a nerve tonic if you don't take a stand in this life. The borsome neighbor is a minor irritation compared to the major ones you'll have to face some day. If you can't find the courage to speak up, tell that inconsiderate neighbor you have work to do, and say it with a smile. She'll respect you for being firm.

Dear Helen: My father died when I was 10. Three years later my mother married again. This man was a wonderful stepfather but for one fault, drink. Out of love for us he reformed.

Now, after two years of being sober, he dropped Mother off at the supermarket last night and went out to drink. Mother had to come home by bus. We were still up worrying when he staggered in looking a mess. I can't stand by and see her life ruined by this guy. We all love him but if he's going to drink she will call it quits. How can we make him realize what he's doing to us and himself?—Worried Daughter

Dear Worried Daughter: Talk to him just as you have written me. He alone can save himself. But, if reminded of the love you and your mother hold for him, he may find the will to climb out of the wagon and stay there. Implore him, for your sakes, to join the nearest Alcoholics Anonymous Group.

Dear Helen: Our 16-year-old son is being snared by a 19-year-old girl. This worries us greatly for he's an otherwise intelligent boy with a bright future provided he doesn't allow himself to be trapped by some designing female before he finishes high school and college.

Theirs was a summer romance, all moonlight and roses, and would have ended there, if she had any sense of propriety. Much against our wishes, she writes him three or four letters a week. He writes only one or two back, which is consoling. However, he thinks he is in love with her and, being at the susceptible age, could easily become involved to the ex-ent where his education would be forgotten.

I doubt her parents realize how often she writes but they do appreciate the difference in their ages and think it's all right! Am I wrong in assuming that a girl of 19 should know better than to encourage a boy of 16?

Should I write the girl, talk to her parents or just let things drift? Please advise me.—Concerned Mother

Dear Concerned Mother: You can't lead your son's life for him but you can point out the inevitable consequences should he sacrifice his education for the questionable security of a too-youthful marriage. Cullow love, when spotlighted, usually withers. Bring this into the open by calling a family convocation of your husband, son and his girl and her parents.

Say your sole purpose is to clarify the situation. Stress the fact that your son has no money and won't have until he finishes college and finds a job. Should he quit school to marry, he need no longer look to you or his father for financial help. State that in your opinion his lack of experience coupled with lack of money would be a strain on any marriage but — and emphasize this final point — the choice is up to them. Show only affection concern and, at all costs, control your emotions.

Dear Helen: My girl friend and my husband bowl the same night. She finishes when he starts but hangs around until closing time. As a consequence, he sees her home.

He bowls once a week with the men for whom he works. This is his only night out and I think he should spend it with the boys. At least I did until my girl friend took up bowling. He just can't understand why I'm upset and asked him to change bowling nights. He says he doesn't do anything wrong and I'm sure he doesn't, but, if this goes on week after week, where will it end? We're beginning to fight as a result. What can I do?—Left Out

Dear Left Out: Take up bowling.

Dear Helen: I'm a boy of 15 who is both shy and a coward. I let people dominate me and am homesick if away from my folks, especially my mother, even being at the susceptible age, could easily become involved to the ex-

Mrs. Van Smith

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stone of McCaskill announce the marriage of their daughter, Fern to Van Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Smith of Nashville. The double ring ceremony was performed Nov. 10 by Rev. Merrill Wisdom, in the home of the bride's parents which was decorated with carnations and greenery.

The bride was attired in a white wool sheath and carried a white bible topped with white carnation. Miss Ruth Ann Rogers was the bridesmaid and Larry Hicks served as best man, both are cousins of the bride.

A reception was held in the dining room where the three tiered wedding cake and punch was served from a table covered with an imported lace cloth over rose damask. Miss Betty Sue Rogers, cousin of the bride, served the cake and Miss Ava Hicks presided at the punch bowl.

For travel the bride chose a cinnamon two piece suit with matching accessories. After a short wedding trip to Hot Springs the couple will be at home in Nashville where the new groom is employed. The bride is a student at Ruth's Beauty College.

I was only soft toward members of my family because I didn't want to make them feel bad too. Please tell me how to overcome these faults, especially cowardice.—Frightened Teen-ager has felt, at one time, or another, just as you do. These are human weaknesses of which we are all subject, especially during adolescence. Growing up is never easy. A boy is struggling for adult security, financially, socially, and physically. He's got to be aggressive and ready to fight. All of this takes courage. Most kids your age find it by joining a local boxing or athletic club. Force yourself out into the world of boys and men. Make up your mind that you've got to fight for what you get. Begin by learning how to handle yourself physically. With such knowledge comes assurance, and with assurance, courage.

Industrial Prices Seem to Be Holding

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Consumers are still plagued by the high cost of living. But one major contributor to rising prices in the past is absent just now. That is advancing industrial prices.

Such prices, in fact, are holding remarkably steady despite the recovery of industry from the last recession. In other postwar recoveries these prices have advanced sharply.

And because of this stability there is a growing hope that the general rise in the cost of living can be held in check this time. Adding to the prospect is an increasing belief that labor cost advances will be moderate in the next few months, perhaps about in line with offsetting increases in productivity.

Some industrial prices have weakened during the recovery—aluminum and other non-ferrous metals. Steel prices haven't risen in spite of all the talk about it a few weeks ago when labor costs rose.

Prices of some building materials have dropped, with excess capacity or changing construction demands credited.

Many other industrial prices are holding in a narrow range close to recession levels.

Industrialists point to this to argue that any recent rises in consumer prices can be laid at other doors.

Services have been the most active risers in recent months. Some say this is a delayed reaction to earlier cost boosts at the manufacturing and labor levels.

In general the rise in prices during and since the recession has been traced largely to the added costs of distribution, processing and retailing. The cost of the basic materials have remained fairly steady.

Food is its own story. Its original price is influenced by weather and government supports. After that the processing and distributing costs are added. Often the store price seems far away from the farm price.

But this time at least such creeping advances in the cost of living as have shown up in recent months can't be traced to soaring industrial prices.

In the recovery from the 1949 recession the jump in industrial prices was 15 per cent. After the 1954 recession industrial prices rose by 10 per cent, and after the 1958 slump, 3 per cent.

Coach Worried About Raiders of Texas Tech

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks go on a holiday practice schedule today to complete preparations for Saturday's game with Texas Tech in Little Rock.

Coach Frank Broyles set today's drill for 2:30 p.m., an hour earlier than usual, and he said the Hogs will turn out again at 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

A rainstorm drove the Porks into Barnhill Field House after 45 minutes' work Tuesday. They concentrated on assignments against Texas Tech's offensive and defensive plays.

Coach Stead White delivered the scouting report on Tech and he said the Raiders are a quick, tough team on the ground or air. He noted they had a day off last week to get ready for their Arkansas invasion.

Arkansas could clinch a tie for the Southwest Conference title and practically sew up a Sugar Bowl bid by beating the Raiders. They could win the title outright if Texas A&M beats Texas Thursday.

Broyles said he was worried about overconfidence. "Any team that can beat Texas Christian and Baylor on successive weekends is ready," Broyles said.

Tech's offense, principally a ground attack, is centered around burly fullback Coolidge Hunt who is averaging four yards a carry.

Broyles said the Hogs will have to play better than in last week's 21-7 victory over Southern Methodist if they plan to beat Tech.

Tigers End Season Here Thurs. Night

The Yegger Tigers will play their final game of the season Thursday night at 8 o'clock in Hammers Stadium with McRae High furnishing the opposition.

Although the Tigers have had their ups and downs all year they continue to show plenty of spirit. Inexperience has been a key factor in the Tiger losses.

A large crowd is expected for this final game.

Memphis State Coach Signs

MEMPHIS (AP) — A new five-year contract has been signed by Billy Murphy, head football coach at Memphis State University.

Dr. C. C. Humphrey, MSU president, said the new contract was announced in order to stop any speculation about Murphy's moving to Mississippi State.

Wade Walker, under pressure from dissatisfied alumni, resigned as Mississippi State coach last Sunday. He remained as athletic director.

Murphy's teams have won 25 and lost 13 since he came to Memphis State in 1959. His contract salary terms were not disclosed.

Crash That Killed 77 Under Probe

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The pilot of an Imperial Airlines Constellation that crashed Nov. 8 killing 77 persons said today he did not know he was to be in charge of the flight until he boarded the plane at Columbia, S.C.

Ronald H. Conway of West Hollywood, Fla., told a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing he had entered a flight plan for the ill-fated trip in the name of Capt. James Greenlee. Greenlee, the copilot, was among the victims.

The Imperial Constellation crashed into a muddy ravine two miles short of Richmond's Byrd Field, killing 74 Army inductees and three of the five crew members aboard. Only Conway and his flight engineer, William F. Poythress of Miami, Fla., escaped the burning wreckage.

Picking the Weekend Winners

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
 Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Chestnuts in your turkey dressing improves its flavor but chestnuts in college football forecasting can ruin your average. Last week's picks showed 37 correct, 8 chestnuts for 322.

This week's winners: Michigan over Ohio State: It is being played at Michigan and there won't be 12,000 fans in the stands cheering themselves hoarse over Buckeye Bob Ferguson's antics.

Minnesota over Wisconsin: Sandy Stephens, the versatile brick-groom, pitches Minnesota to a second straight Big Ten crown.

Louisiana State over Tulane: Little more than a workout.

Texas over Texas A&M: The Longhorns will be all business this time to save their Cotton Bowl invitation. You will see it on your TV Thursday.

Colorado over Iowa State: The Buffs are infuriated by their lack of bowl appeal.

Michigan State over Illinois: The Illini are grateful this is the last game in a long winless season.

Arkansas over Texas Tech: Lance Alford has too much speed for the weary Tech Raiders.

Kansas over Missouri: This will be more bruising than any of their previous meetings, but John Hadl will engineer a narrow victory.

Purdue over Indiana: They call this the Old Oaken Bucket game because the Purdue line is made of the same timber.

Maryland over Virginia: With the greatest of ease.

Harvard over Yale: The revamped Harvard backfield has too many guns for the young Yales.

Syracuse over Boston College: Syracuse won't have to rely on movies and rulings to pull this one out of the fire. The Orange-men will have it safely won by half-time.

Rutgers over Columbia: Rutgers started this football business 92 years ago and by defeating the Ivy League champs will have its first perfect season.

UCLA over Southern California: The host spot in the Rose Bowl goes to the victor.

21 of 39 Wells Are Dry Holes

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Thirty-nine new wells, 21 of which were dry holes, were completed in Arkansas in October, the state Oil and Gas Commission reports.

The commission issued 22 permits during the month for drilling new wells, a decrease of 30 from September, and granted permission to plug 24 non-producing wells, four more than in the previous month.

Gas production from oil and condensate fields during September increased 5,451,000 cubic feet daily, and 58 gas fields in northwestern Arkansas produced 2,465,000 cubic feet over the August daily production.

Processing in the state's six refineries declined 7,000 barrels of crude oil daily in September.

Has Plenty Left to Be Thankful for

PERRY, Iowa (AP) — Floyd Chenoweth — although saddened by tragedy — has many reasons to give thanks this Thanksgiving Day. Thirteen of them, at least.

The tall, lanky Perry area farmer will sit down at the dinner table Thursday with his 13 children, renewed in a faith in friends and family that often follows tragedy.

Chenoweth, 40, was widowed and his children left motherless when Mrs. Chenoweth, 35, was killed in a car crash Oct. 11.

The people of Perry and nearby communities opened their hearts to the Chenoweth family.

"It seems like everyone has helped," says Chenoweth. "Neighbors came and picked my corn and harvested my beans."

"Now, they're building us a home."

Show Failed But Leads to Another

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Diamond, one of TV's earlier private eyes, was the first of the convertible — driving, woman-chasing, villain-fighting murder-solvers to use a car telephone.

The novel gimmick of the series (which never did very well) is largely responsible for the current career of Mary Tyler Moore, who plays the young wife in CBS' "The Dick Van Dyke Show."

As a sort of sub-gimmick, the producers added the role of "Sam," the telephone operator, to the show. When our hero checked, his answering service, it was "Sam," a sultry-voiced, leggy female operator who gave him the message. You never saw Sam's face.

"It was murder for an actress," conceded Miss Moore, "particularly since I was working for scale and my name never was listed in the credits. But even if my face was never shown, I was getting as much mail as the star. At least, I heard I was getting as much mail — they never let me see a line of it."

At any rate, after the demise of the series, Mary Tyler Moore was able to disclose her identity. Because of the success of the Sam gimmick, she started getting better acting jobs. And "The Dick Van Dyke Show" is the best one she has had to date.

Along with other members of the Van Dyke show cast, she is pleased with an impending move of the show from 8 p.m. (EST) Tuesday nights to 9:30 p.m. on Wednesday nights.

"All of us, including our sponsor, love the show," she said, "and the new time ought to help it. After all, over a third of the nation, it's only 7 o'clock when the show is seen now — and for the others, at 8, parents are busy putting the children to bed."

Cancer Detection

Texas, Aggie Game Tops Thanksgiving

By ED CORRIGAN
 Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas, sidetracked in its rush five days ago, will try to pick up the pieces against Texas A&M Thursday in the top game of a thin collegiate Thanksgiving Day football schedule.

The pieces against Texas A&M Thursday in the top game of a thin collegiate Thanksgiving Day football schedule.

Texas Christian cut down the Longhorns, 6-0, last Saturday, so whatever the outcome against the Aggies, it will provide little solace, except for a berth in the Cotton Bowl.

In other games, Maine and Massachusetts play for the Yankee Conference championship, Richmond meets William and Mary, Virginia Tech tangles with VMI both Southern Conference contests, Colgate goes against Brown and Memphis State takes on Chattanooga.

Despite the fact that their national title hopes have been shattered Texas still is on the spot against Texas A&M. A loss to the Aggies also could leave the Longhorns on the outside looking in at the Cotton Bowl.

Texas and Arkansas are tied for the Southwest Conference lead, each with a 5-1 record. If Texas whips Texas A&M and Arkansas gets past Texas Tech — as it should — Saturday, the Longhorns and Razorbacks would finish deadlocked for the lead.

The host spot in the Cotton Bowl then would go to Texas over Arkansas on a 3-7 victory over Arkansas earlier in the season.

Syracuse is expected to decide today whether to play in New York Gotham Bowl on Dec. 9 or Philadelphia's Liberty Bowl on Dec. 16 — or no bowl at all.

The Gotham bowl has said it would like to pair Syracuse against Notre Dame in a replay of the Irish's controversial 17-15 victory over the Orange last Saturday. But Notre Dame has a policy of not playing postseason games and no doubt will decline.

The make up the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla., on Dec. 30 was tentatively set Thursday night.

Georgia Tech will face Maryland if the Terps win their season finale from Virginia Saturday. Yellow Jacket players voted unanimously to accept the bid. Official acceptance, under Southeastern Conference rules, must await Georgia Tech's final game against Georgia on Dec. 2.

In Dearborn, Mich., said a painful scraping of a suspected oral cancer and a quick study of the cells can determine rapidly the presence of cancer in the mouth.

Painless and easy to do, the scraping will detect mouth cancers in the very early stages when the cure rate can run between 75 and 100 per cent, Dr.

Bobcats Host to Nashville 2 p.m. Thurs.

By VINCE FOSTER
 Hope Star Sportswriter

At two o'clock on Thanksgiving will be kickoff time for the old rivalry contest between the Hope Bobcats and the Nashville Scrappers at Hammond's Stadium.

The Bobcats finished in the cellar of district 4AA, and the Scrappers won two honors in district 7A, but these ratings usually have no bearing on the outcome of this Hope-Nashville series.

However one factor does enter into this game-the home game Turkey Day jinx. Since 1934 no matter what the record of previous wins, every time the Bobcats travel to Nashville, they return with a victory. Every time the Scrappers come down here, they are the victors. On behalf of these superstitious fans, the jinx is in Nashville's favor this year.

For instance, in 1954 the Bobcats, although suffering with a losing season, whipped the Scrappers, 14-6. However in 1957, after just missing the conference crown the Cats were dropped to the time of 33-20 here. Then in 1959 the Bobcats were co-champs of district 4AA, but the Scrappers pulled through with a 12-7 victory here. Last year with only two wins to their record, the Bobcats marched to a 12-0 victory. Will the jinx hold true, or will the Bobcats, who are over-due, pull out a big upset and snap this jinx?

Coach Dwight Jones' Scrappers pulled out of the conference this season with no losses and one tie. The only loss of the year came by the hands of Endora in a non-conference bout late in the season.

The Scrappers can pass very well behind their fine signal caller Wayne Dyer. Charles Pinkston and Jim McLaure provide much of the speed for these champions, while Rhoads and Blakey provide the depth.

The Bobcats, missing Porterfield, Watkins, Murphy, and Jones are going to have to really pull something out of their sleeves to whip the visitors tomorrow.

Sophomore Richard McDowell may come through and provide the Bobcats with the power and speed they are lacking, but that is a pretty big load for one man. Dudley, Crain, and McLarty will be in the backfield to help carry this load also. But the main problem may be in the line. If they can hold up through four quarters of rough football, putting out one hundred per cent, the back cut-wrappers without purchasing a $50 not help but provide them with federal gambling stamp.

Laneburg Tournament Starts Mon.

The Laneburg School gym will be the site of an early season basketball tournament beginning Nov. 27. The tournament will be for senior girls and boys and will include teams from Spring Hill, Guernsey, McNeil, Bodeaux, Cale, Willisville, Emmet and Laneburg.

The games will be played each night of the week Nov. 27-Dec. 2, with the exception of Tuesday, which will be left open for regular season games. The games will begin at 6:30 p.m. each night except for the finals on Saturday night, and they will begin at 7 p.m.

Officials for the tournament are Allen Mitchell and Arthur Pharr. Admission will be adults 50c and students 25c.

The Schedule:
Monday Night, Nov. 27:
 6:30 p.m. Willisville vs Spring Hill (Girls) 7:30 Bodeaux vs Laneburg (Girls) 8:30 McNeil vs Emmet (Boys)

Wednesday, Nov. 29:
 6:30 Emmet vs McNeil (Girls) 7:30 Willisville vs Bodeaux (Boys) 8:30 Laneburg vs Cale (Boys)

Thursday, Nov. 30:
 6:30 Cale vs Guernsey (Girls) 7:30 Winner of Emmet-McNeil game vs Winner of Bodeaux-Laneburg game (Girls) 8:30 Guernsey vs Spring Hill (Boys)

Friday, Dec. 1:
 6:30 Winner of Willisville-Spring Hill game vs Winner of Guernsey-Cale game (Girls) 7:30 Winner of Willisville - Bodeaux vs Winner of Guernsey - Spring Hill game, (Boys) 8:30 Winner of McNeil-Emmet game vs Winner of Laneburg-Cale game (Boys)

Saturday, Dec. 2 Championship
 7 p.m. Senior Girls Championship game; 8:15 p.m. Senior Boys Championship game.

The necessary points. But however you look at it, it will be up to the Bobcats themselves to go all out and upset Nashville.

Why don't you go all out tomorrow too, and let the boys know somebody cares who wins. As usual there will be a large number of visitors from Nashville tomorrow, so don't let the Bobcats down, don't worry about the Texas A&M game, just boost the Bobcats.

Fined $1,000 for Gambling

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Cleo Vaughn, 37, of Blytheville was fined $1,000 and put on probation for one year Tuesday after he pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court to a charge of accepting bribes to help gamblers.

The charge was part of a federal investigation into alleged gambling operations in the state.

Vaughn was arrested last week after a series of raids on gambling establishments in the area.

The fine is the highest ever levied in the district for a gambling-related offense.

LET'S TALK ARKANSAS

The Thanksgiving Turkey -- Big Business in Arkansas!

Turkey—the traditional Thanksgiving bird—is a $10,000,000 business in Arkansas!

Out of the state total of 2,103,000 hens and toms raised in 1960 for holiday dinners across the country, Northwest Arkansas—including Benton, Carroll and Washington counties—grew 1,100,000.

Traditional—tasty—and an economic asset to Arkansas... that's both the turkey business and the beer industry in our State.

For when it reaches the festive board, there's nothing that goes better with the juicy bird than a cold glass of beer, America's traditional beverage of moderation.

SATURN SOLUTION—The recently tested first stage of the giant Saturn moon rocket was so huge it had to be transported by barge from Huntsville, Ala., where it was assembled, to its launching site at Cape Canaveral, Fla. But moving the smaller second stage may prove a problem, too. Its builder, Douglas Aircraft, has suggested an airplane piggyback method to bring it from the plant in California. As shown in drawing above, the 41-foot-long, 13,000-pound unit, too large for road or rail, would be carried atop a C-133 cargo plane. National Aeronautics and Space Administration is also considering using dirigibles and gliders.

MISSISSIPPI BECOMES MIGHTIER—Extension of water transportation into America's heartland is nearing reality in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area with construction of this 56-foot wide, 400-foot-long navigation lock. Due for completion in 1963, the lock will provide river commerce with a 40-foot lift over St. Anthony Falls and an additional 3½ miles of navigable river for the area's vital business and industry.

DRESSED TO BE BLESSED—Dressed to his tasseled tusks, this silk-clad state elephant waits with his uniformed keepers for his turn to be blessed by the Maharaja of Mysore, India. The ceremony is part of the traditional Dussarah Festival commemorating a historic victory for "the good" all over India.

BABY KENNEDY—John F. Kennedy Jr. cuddles up to mother, the nation's First Lady, for an official photo for his first birthday, Saturday, Nov. 25. (Photo by Mark Shaw).

STAR BRIGHT—Sophia Loren is on the set again making another film, this one in Lugo, Italy, for Director Vittorio De Sica (left). She is playing a shooting gallery owner.

POP-UP TRAFFIC CONTROL—Internally illuminated traffic markers that appear out of and disappear into the pavement are a new aid to traffic control. Flexible rubber markers, able to withstand tire impacts up to 60 miles an hour, make it possible to change traffic flow patterns to suit needs, as shown in photographs above. Called "Movatron," the system can be operated automatically or with the flick of a button. Time, labor and danger involved in manually erected markers are eliminated, also overhead lane signs.

STAMP DEBUT—Baby Prince Andrew, held by his mother, Queen Elizabeth II of Britain, makes his first appearance on a stamp—a one pound St. Helena issue. St. Helena is famous as Napoleon's place of exile and place of his death.

NEW TYPE FALLOUT SHELTER—Carrying umbrellas on a fine, sunny afternoon is a form of protest by these women of Seoul, South Korea, against nuclear tests by the U.S.S.R. Over 30,000 staged an anti-Soviet rally, of which the above protest was a part.

FREE RENT PENT HOUSE—The top of a 2,000-year-old Roman column is this stork's choice as a home site near Rabat, Morocco, where they are considered bearers of good tidings and where they are protected by the law.

MEGAPHONITIS—Ex-cheerleader Peggy Kyser (University of Arkansas) finds her hands full with a five-foot "megaphone" for the Liberty Memorial monument shaft, behind her, in Kansas City, Mo. The stentor is one of four such for a 305-bell carillon in the monument to international understanding.

GLORY THAT WAS ROME'S—Hang the expense seems to be a way of life for the producers of "Cleopatra" as they build the most lavish sets ever seen on a screen. Here, for instance, is pictured just a bit of the Roman Forum set. Actually, it consists of 30 buildings covering 12 acres. Guess on final cost of the film starring Liz Taylor as the siren of the Nile, ranges up to $20 million.

SMALL AND LARGE OF THE ART WORLD—Painting in the wee hours of the morning in Rome, left, painter Dino Cantini uses a battery-powered miniature lamp to light his tiny easel. Cantini, who specializes in small-scale canvases, was painting the famed Spanish Steps. Right, the ski's the hunt for British artist Stefan Knapp, painting a gigantic mural for the exterior of a New Jersey department store. Working in a rented hangar in Middlesex, England, Knapp uses the skis to prevent bending the 300 steel panels on which he is executing a 50x200-foot mural. His "paint" is liquid glass, which he applies with a long dauber pole. Each panel for the mural is fired in a kiln.

PRICKLY PRECAUTION IN BERLIN—Brandenburg Gate, on the dividing line between East and West Berlin, looms beyond this barbed wire entanglement which, surprisingly enough, is on the western side. The British erected the barrier as "a normal safety precaution." East Germans closed off the once-heavily traveled gate some weeks ago.
